

Glenn S. Ritter, Partner

Professional Experience

Glenn Ritter represents healthcare providers, including doctors, hospitals, nurses, CRNAs, clinics, nursing homes, home health and assisted living facilities. He represents clients in malpractice lawsuits and provides consultation services in a variety of healthcare law areas including compliance, Stark Law, anti-kickback, false claims, HIPAA, telemedicine, employment agreements, and reimbursement and contractual issues.

Ritter also serves as a trial attorney in business matters and is consulted for his expertise in jurisdictions outside of Arkansas. Ritter provides his clients with aggressive and comprehensive discovery and deposition tactics, thorough client and expert witness preparation, tailored defense strategies and liability assessment. He also counsels on risk management issues to avoid negligence.

Ritter's recent experience includes:

- Trial counsel for a child therapy company in a lawsuit involving defamation, misappropriation of trade secrets and interference with business expectancies; successfully obtained a restraining order.
- Contractual drafting and negotiations for anesthesia provider involving anti-kickback issues.
- Trial counsel for medical malpractice cases involving shoulder dystocia, infectious disease, gastroenterology, ophthalmology and a variety of other medical specialties.
- Contractual analysis and investigation of non-compete and provisions in an operating agreement of an ambulatory surgery center.
- Local counsel for a retail vendor in breach of contract case.
